

LORENZO QUINN
THE FORCE OF NATURE II
CULTURAL VILLAGE, DOHA, QATAR

The Force of Nature II was installed in September 2011 at a cultural development project on the seafront at Doha equipped with a worldclass amphitheatre, concert halls, theatres and exhibition spaces. Conceived as an international destination for visitors, the village exists to encourage and promote the arts.

'Quinn believes that the relationship between art and architecture should be an evolving one' writes Ian Banks. 'He wants his sculptures to change over time along with their permanent setting. Whether art is designed for a particular building, or just derives more meaning in a certain space, the interaction of the two is what makes it special and determines how we respond, even if that interaction is so seamless that we take it for granted.'
